A Holistic Path to Cancer Care

"At Niramay, healing is not just about fighting disease
it is about restoring strength, balance, and hope."

Understanding Cancer: More Than Just a Disease

Cancer is one of the most challenging health conditions affecting millions of people worldwide. It occurs when certain cells in the body begin to grow uncontrollably, forming abnormal masses called tumors or spreading through the bloodstream and lymphatic system.

Modern medicine defines cancer as a group of diseases characterized by abnormal and uncontrolled cell growth that can invade nearby tissues or spread to other parts of the body.

However, Ayurveda views cancer through a broader lens. It is not just a localized disease of cells but a result of deep imbalance in the body's metabolism, immunity, tissues, and lifestyle.

From an Ayurvedic perspective, restoring body balance, digestion, immunity, and tissue health is essential for supporting recovery and improving quality of life.

Understanding Cancer in Ayurveda

In Ayurveda, conditions resembling cancer are described under terms such as Arbuda and Granthi, which refer to abnormal tissue growths.

These conditions arise when there is deep imbalance in the body's Doshas (Vata, Pitta, Kapha) along with disturbance in Dhatus (body tissues) and weakened Ojas (immunity).

Ayurvedic Causes

Long-term Toxin Accumulation (Ama)

Weak Digestion & Impaired Metabolism (Agni)

Poor Dietary Habits & Processed Foods

Exposure to Environmental Toxins & Chemicals

Chronic Stress & Emotional Imbalance

Genetic Predisposition

Ayurvedic View

When toxins accumulate in the body and digestion weakens, the natural balance of tissues is disturbed. This can lead to abnormal growth and impaired cellular functioning.

Therefore, Ayurveda focuses on detoxification, strengthening immunity, improving digestion, and restoring tissue balance.
